

Hello:

I'm interested in applying for your published open position.

I believe I will be an asset for your team because I've been working as a sysadmin since 2003 and even if things have changed a lot since then, I've been able to stay in the loop not because I'm an expert on any particular topic but because I've learned how to methodically work with new technologies, and get to master them. So I'm always open to new challenges.

Sincerely,

Jeremías Casteglione